The Amazing Story of Adolphus Tips - Moving day

'It's my very last night in my own bedroom. Until now I don't think I thought it would every really happen, not to us, not to me. It was happening to everyone else. Everyone else was moving out, but somehow I just didn't imagine that day would ever come when we'd have to do the same. But tomorrow is the final day and tomorrow will come.'

Imagine a 'Lord Something Or Other' has come to your town or village and has told you that you and your families to pack up and leave immediately.

Just like Lily, write a page in your diary describing 'moving day'.

How do you feel?

Where will you go?

Dear Diary

The Amazing Story of Adolphus Tips – It's like a miracle

"Got something for you, Lily," said Adie, and his smile seemed like a laugh waiting to happen. "Something that's gonna make you real happy."

I thought it would be some chocolate or something. But it wasn't. Harry reached into the back of the jeep and lifted out a cardboard box – a cardboard box which was mewing! "You said black and white, right?" Harry said giving it to me. "We found this one hiding away in that old hotel down on the beach. She's blacker'n me and whiter'n you. Scratches some too."

Adie took her and held her out to me. "This the one you been looking for?" I knew her at once from her green eyes, from her markings, her white paws, and from the deep roaring purr inside her as I took her into my arms and hugged her to my cheek.'

Imagine you are the cat, Tips. You have been left behind in a forbidden area during the war.
